Growing and Coping Together will refer to children as "Jewel(s)" which is also significant to our logo. The term jewel stems from the founder's vision. Jewels tarnish at times and require restoration.

A jewel may lose its shine and luster and require restoration which could include healthy ways to cope with having an incarcerated loved one, mentorship, grief support, supportive interventions, community support/involvement, school involvement, simple compassion, and most important helping the family unit restore relationship and building trust.
